

Guide Dogs Scotland

Staff at the Cove Bay Health Centre/Kincorth Medical Centre recently undertook My Guide training with Guide Dogs Scotland. The My Guide training teaches sighted guiding techniques for those with a sight loss, and will make our centre more accessible for people who are blind or partially sighted.

Guide Dogs Scotland provides a range of mobility services. My Guide also partners sighted people with people who have a visual impairment, and aims to reduce the isolation often experienced by those with sight loss. If you would like to know more about this service, please email sheena.mackinnon@guidedogs.org.uk or call Sheena on 0845 372 7436.

Our core guide dog service is at the heart of what we do, and there are around 530 guide dog owners in Scotland. The service receives no government funding and relies entirely on public generosity.

If you would like to know more about our My Guide or guide dog service, or how you can get involved by supporting, volunteering, or backing our campaigns, visit our website www.guidedogsscotland.org.uk, or call our Glasgow Mobility Team on 0845 372 7436.
